THE GUERILLA RAID INTO EDMONTON -We stated some days ago that a gang of guerillas made a raid into Edmonton on the 15th, and robbed the citizens and stores, and burned the Court-house. We have since learned that the Clerk's Office was also destroyed, with all of the official records of the county. After leaving Edmonton, the outlaws visited the house of Mr. S. P. Rush, and, not finding Mr. Rush at home, they shot and killed a negro boy belonging to him. They gave as a reason for the diabolical act that Rush was an abolitionist, and no man of his poolitical belief should have a negro about him.

THE NAME AND THE IDEA OF GOD .- The Christian Examiner, for March, has a striking article under this title, of singular philosophical breadth of view and efficiency of practical state. ment. We extract the following passage on some of the consequences of atheism:

women of the last thirty years. Harriet Martineau, of Unitarian antecedents, of wide reputation as a humanitarian and social economist, travelling in the East, dropped, one day, a diamond from her finger and believed in God no more. She returned to England without this family jewel, far richer, in her own opinion, than when she left it. And so the name was thenceforth hamilyed from the study and the the neeforth banished from the study and the sick chamber at Ambleside. The Ruler of the Universe was no longer needed at Harriet Martineau's. The door was politely opened, and invoked. And many awkward formulas are resorted to, to cover the unhandsome void of this omission. An ingenious volume is also published, which we may call an attempt to re-Miss Martineau continues to write and live, al-though God does not. But, dear Madam, you are continually em-

These all express the elaboration of certain ideal agencies from the observation of real facts. The universal human mind makes these abstractions for itself out of an incalculable sum of condi-tions, actions, and intentions. To get along without these words will indeed require the coining of a new vocabulary. But if you will not allow us to express the extreme unification, which is a personification of the sum of all good, we cannot allow you to employ the minor good, we cannot anow you to employ the minor unifications, which express the components of that sum. For here the objections which apply to the whole apply equally to all its parts. Between us, we shall thus deprive the human mind of that power of abstraction on which its noblest results are contingent. For without this very twofold power of generalizing agency and of militing acts, no process of human cases, no process of human cases.

VICE-PRESIDENT JOHNSON. — We take the SENATOR FOOTE'S ADDRESS TO THE PEO-arliest opportunity to present to our readers carliest opportunity to present to our readers the speech of Hon. Andrew Johnson, as it apbears officially in the Congressional Globe: The Vice President elect (Hon. Andrew John The Vice President elect (Hon. Andrew Johnsen, of Tennessee). I am. (Then turning to the Senate, he said): Senators: I am here today as a chosen Vice President of the United States, and as such, by constitutional provision I am made the presiding officer of this body. I therefore present myself here in obedience to the high behests of the American people to discharge a constitutional duty, and not presumptionally to the state the said. charge a constitutional duty, and not presump-tuously to thrust myself in a position so ex-alted. May I at this moment—it may not be irrelevant to the occasion—advert to the work-ings of our institutions under the Constitution which our fathers framed and Washington approved, as exhibited by the position in which I stand before the American Senate, in the sight of the American people? Deem me not vain or arrogant; yet I should be less than man if, under such circumstances, I were not proud of being an American citizen, for to-day one who claims no high descent, one who cames from the ranks of the people. who comes from the ranks of the people, stands, by the choice of a free constituency, in the second place in this Government. There may be those to whom such things are not pleasing; but those who have labored for the onsummation of a free government will appre-ate and cherish institutions which exclude one, however obscure his origin, from places of trust and distinction. The people, in short, are the source of all power. You, Senators, you who constitute the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States, are but the creatures of the American people, your exaltation is from them; the power of this Government consists in its nearness and approximation to the great mass of the people. You, Mr. Secretary Seward, Mr. Secretary Stanton, the Secretary Seward, Mr. Secretary Stanton, the Secretary S tary of the Navy, and the others who are you associates—you know that you have my respect and my confidence—derive not your greatner and your power alone from President Lincoln Humble as I am, plebeian as I may be deemed, permit me, in the presence of this brilliant assemblage, to enunciate the truth that courts and cabinets, the President and his advisers, derive their power and their greatness from the people. A President could not exist here forty-eight hours if he were as far removed from the people as the autocrat of sia is separated from his subjects. Her Such an assertion of the great prin ciples of this Government may be considered out of place, and I will not consume the time of these intelligent and enlightened people much longer; but I could not be insensible to the people the Vice-President of these Uniter s, am here to enter upon the discharge of uties. For those duties I claim not the aptitude of my respected predecessor. Although I have occupied a seat in both the House of Representatives and the Senate, I am not learned in parliamentary law, and I shall be dependent on the courtesy of those Senators who have become familiar with the rules whi quisite for the good order of the body and spatch of its business. I have only studied ow I may best advance the interests of my State and of my country, and not the technical ules of order; and if I err I shall appeal to this gnified body of representatives of States for induess and indulgence.

Before I conclude this brief inaugural address, in the presence of this audience—and I, though a plebian boy, am authorized by the principles of the Government under which I live, to feel proudly conscious that I am a man, and grave the strength of the constitution guitaries are but men—before the Supremourt, the representatives of foreign Governments, Senators, and the people, I desire to have been, is free. She waited not or the exercise of power by Congress; it was ner own act, and she is now as loyal, Mr. At-torney General, as the State from which you ome. It is the doctrine of the Federal Contitution that no State can go out of this Union; and, moreover, Congress cannot eject a State from this Union. Thank God, Tennessee has never been out of the Union! It is true, the operations of her government were for a time in-terrupted; there was an interregnum; but she is still in the Union, and I am her representaive. [From the New York Tribune.] We have received a pamphlet just published a London by Mr. Foote, recently Senator from ennessee in the rebel Congress at Richmond. nd containing an account of his efforts tring about peace. Mr. Foote's last speeche in the rebel Congress, and his subsequent escape from the Confederacy, have attracted such general attention that his statements will be received with interest. The following is the substance of the pamphlet:

Mr. Foote begins with reminding his constituents that when they sent him to Congress at Richmond they were familiar with his former 'devotion to the Federal Union," and his 'zealous and unbending opposition to everything in the shape of nationalism." They knew that he refused "all connection with the perilous scheme of secession in 1851," and that, in 1860, he had as little in common with the boasted secession leaders as any other public man in the South; that he had earnestly opposed all the incipient teps which had led to the fearful state of things then existing; that he had openly denounced the conduct and motives of nearly all the prom-inent leaders in the secession movement; and that he had never fully acquiesced in the prooriety of entering into the war 'until the South-ern Senators and Representatives in the Federal Congress had, with a want of wisdom and true moral courage unprecedented in the world's history, ingloriously vacated their seats in that or dy, and (doubtiess in accordance with a plan previously agreed upon among them) hastened to the city of Montgomery, framed a new Constitution of Government, and taken all the needfal steps for the bringing on of a war, without the immediate commencement of which they well knew their scheme of disunion would turn out to be altogether impracticable."

In the rebel Congress Mr. Foote claims to have always made "â frm and unyielding opposition to the shameful efforts of Mr. Davis and his stition to the snameful efforts of Mr. Davis and his servitors to undermine the public liberties and establish a despotism on their ruins." "At length (three months ago) it became evident to every man of discernment" with whom Mr. Foote held intercourse, "that unless an early and an honorable peace could be speedily effected the South would be inevitably ruined." Mr. Foote them effect freely consulting with the best and then, after freely consulting with the best and wisest men he met, resolved to introduce his well-known peace resolctions in the rebel Con-gress. His resolutions being rejected by that somewhat unusual experiment" to bring about Seeing that "the Confederate Government, n all its departments, was most rapidly losing he public confidence and becoming positively em was clearly in a state bordering upon col-apse," Mr. Foote set out from Richmond about empowering her to return to their residence in Nashville. On reaching the Potomae, in Westnoreland county, he addressed a letter to Thom-is S. Bocock, Speaker of the rebel House of Representatives, dated December 24th, stating hat be in ended to visit the city of Washington It is practicable to obtain for the people of the Confederate States an early and an honorable peace," and that this mission was "cordially sanctioned by some of the wisest and most virtuous men now upholding the Confederate cause." In a postscript to this letter Mr. Foote nade known his resignation in Congress. Mr. Foote did not succeed in crossing the Potomac, out was arrested and carried to Fredericksburg, where he remained in military custody for near-y a week, when he was liberated on a writ of habeas corrus. He at once proceeded to Rich mond, and there made his last harangue "in that mobbish assemblage known as the Con ess of the Confederate States." d evidently approving audience." ne at once resumed his original scheme of seeking access to the Washington authorities. Thi and received from him a letter to Secretary former opposition to secession movements, proof slavery on the 1st day of January, 1900, and which will provide also for the freedom of all persons of African blood who shall be born after the 1st day of January, 1890.

Mr. Foote also declared that he stood ready—
"To make such further revelations, both as to facts and persons, as will leave no doubt upon the minds of President Lincoln and his constitudays too, such a counter revolution as is above re-ferred to. All that I desire is, to receive assu-rance that the information which I deem it proper, for reasons alike of prudence and of honor, to hold for the present in reserve, if im-parted, will conduce to the restoration of peace parted, will conduce to the restoration of peace and the re-establishment of the Federal Union, in a manner and upon terms consistent with the present honor and future safety of the South, and I will at once proceed to make full discloommunication, and stated that any further ommunication which Mr. Foote might think it proper to impart to the Government might be con municated in the same manner as the first, Major-General Sheridan was directed either to hass Mr. Foote back within the insurgent lines, f he so chose, or to send him to Major-General Dix, who would be instructed to allow him to Seward, dated February 6, 1865, reiterating his former sentiments and statements, and especially emphasizing his readiness to establish the fact by testimony of the most trustworthy character, that a large majority of the more enlightened citizens of the South have at last come to the conclusion, in which I confess that I do for one most fully concur, that should they be ever so successful in the prosecution of the war now in progress, they would find themselves at the end of it an enslaved and wretched people, and that Southern independence, at one time so thoughtlessly coveted and so zealously

Mr. Foote did not wait for a reply to this for cost iteration, but having no special reason for supposing that it had been more favorably received than the former, he set sail. On board the mail steamer he wrote another letter to President Lincoln, urging a modification of the resolution then before the Congress at Washington for abolishing slavery by a constitutional amendment, and expressing the belief that the dent Lincoln upon the propositions submitted to him.' to lose no time in returning to the bo-som of the Federal Union.

[From the Richmond Examiner, March 13 1 THE CONCENTRATION BEFORE RICHMOND THE REBELS ANTICIPATING THE FAILURE OF GRANT'S ANACONDA TACTICS.

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1865.

All thought of peace is for the present-to us General Sherman's expression—'disposed of,' and we are already in the midst of the spring campaign, which promises to be a most active one. While Sherman is still struggling northward, though under considerable difficulties, to co-operate with Grant before Richmond, it is not processorable to conclude the business. unreasonable to conclude that the business of our community is nothing but war until that pres-ent peril is disposed of. And it now seems like-It to be so in a manner tolerably satisfactory. We cannot indulge the enemy with any minute information concerning the events which are passing in North and South Carolina, but the intelligencealready published officially is enough to show that the Army of Tennessee has felt the wholesome influence and strong impulsion of their favorite leader, lately reinstated in com-mand. A wide, and, in all probability, impus mand. A wide, and, in all probability, impus-sable interval separates Sherman yet from the Yankee army operating before Richmond and Pe-tersburg; and General Grant, who depended, as I ankee army operating before Richmond and Petersburg; and General Grant, who depended, as usual, upon co-operation from the South and from the West, can do nothing but hold his hands and wait. It is the story of last spring repeated. In May of last year, if Butler had done the part assigned to him on the south side, and Hunter in the West, General Grant entertains no doubt that he would have entered Richmond in triumph about nine months ago. So now, if he fails again to take possession of this espital within the time he has allowed himself for that operation, he can still stay it is because Sherman failed to come up or because Sherman failed to come up or because Sheridan failed to come down. Such is the uncertainty of human affairs.

There are two cheering and encouraging features in the situation at present. One is the promptitude and liberality with which the farmers are coming forward with their gupplies to feed the army. They only needed to be assured that their contributions would really go to the soldiers and not be wasted and squandered by post commissaries (who have somehow an unpopular name among the country people), and they were ready to pour in the wealth of their agricultural produce with full hands. Some very noble examples have been given of this particult liberality, the memory of which shall not be lost in the future. It will come substantially in aid of the regular operations of the

not be lost in the tuture. It will come substantially in aid of the regular operations of the Commissary Department, and make it certain that at least the army of General Lee shall not be starved out of Virginia. Another good and wholesome feature is that some of our general officers are tired of that bullying system of the enemy, which the Confederate Government has hitherto most meekly borne with—of treating Confederate prisoners of war as criminals and opfederate prisoners of war as criminals and elons, under the pretence of retaliating what hey call "murder" committed upon their raid-ng maranders, when the latter have been shot ing marauders, when the latter have been shot down in the act of committing outrages unauthorized by the laws of war. General Hampton administered a wholesome lesson to the ruffian Sherman in this matter. Sherman has been encouraged by long impunity, while he traversed the unprotected counties of Georgia and South Carolina, not only pillaging, but burning and destroying houses and outraging helpless people at his pleasure. He seems to have almost reached the conclusion—and not quite without some show of reason—that our Government had abandoned all claim to the rights of belligerents, and all privileges under the laws of war, ents, and all privileges under the laws of war, and had accepted for itself and for us the posi-tion of criminals evading and postponing as long as possible the day of lawful retribution long as possible the day of lawful retribution for our crimes, but no more presuming to exercise retaliation than a band of skulking outlaws would pretend to retaliate, as beligerents, upon the Sheriff and the posse comitatus. General Hampton has put an end to this delusion; and when Sherman writes to him, with his usual affectation of superiority, that he understands twenty-seven of his "foragers" have been "murdered," and that he has ordered a similar number of prisoners in his hand, "to be disposed of ber of prisoners in his hands 'to be disposed of in like manner," Hampton sternly replies by re-minding him that there is such a thing as the law of war—that he (Sherman) and the troops under his command, have habitually violated that law by "firing the dwellings of those citizens whom they have robbed"—that according to the command of the c zens whom they have robbed —that accordingly he (General Hampton) has ordered his men to shoot down any marauders found so employed as if they were wild beasts; and that in the meantime he holds fifty six of Sherman's men as hostages for those whom Sherman had ordered to be executed. Sherman's letter the Havings is deted. Exhausts all said the shares and the shares of the shares and the shares are shared to be executed. on the 27th. General Sherman at that said, "I hold about a thousand prisoners, captured in various ways, and can stand it a captured in various ways, and can stand it as long as you." The prisoners, captured in various ways, of course include such non-combatant Confederates as he has thought proper to arrest; and he thus signifies his intention to "murder" those peaceful citizens dragged from their can hearths in retailation for the execution of his this wife regard cannot have the standard of the content of the content of the standard of the content of the standard of the standa on of his thievish "foregers" caught burning ouses. Thus he boasts that he can stand it as ong as the other. Since the date of the letters, eed, our forces have captured about two busand Federal soldiers in fair fight; but babby General Sherman means to make the balance even by picking up a number of old men, or even old women, and making them an-swer Hampton's murders "to the extent of life for life." There would be nothing new in this, for the Yankee Wyld in North Carolina had the ate upon them whatever should be inflicted pon Confederate deserters, whom he chose to there is no possibility of evading it with safety, and General Hampton, at least, is apparently not the man to evade it. He seems to be aware that even for the sake of humanity he must go through with the repulsive and hideous task, and that the real barbarian is he who makes a pretext of humanity to avoid that duty, and so leaves his own soldiers and his own fellow-citiens to be executed as felons with impunity. Zens to be executed as felons with impunity.

There is reason also to believe that other commanding officers in the Confederate service are tired of the old system of enduring every outrage to their men "for the sake of humanity;" and that we are about to see the Yankees taught a new lesson in the art of war, whereof they stand very much in need. Sherman's expression, "I can stand it as long as you?" indission, "I can stand it as long as you," indiresson, I can stand to as long as you, har-at s precisely the whole philosophy of the the-ny and practice of retaliation. If one of two relligerents commence the system of outrage injustified by the laws of war, and the other is an stand it the longest must be left master of the situation at last.

From this better understanding of the real dictates of humanity, and from the excellent spirit shown by our citizens throughout the land in sharing their produce with those brave soldiers who are their sole safeguard, both for property and for life, good omens may be drawn for the campaign on which we now enjoy en.

THE ELECTION-A WORD TO THE CAN-DIDATES. A number of citizens interested in the coming municipal election are anxious to know the views of the several candidates relative to mu-nicipal reform. Let any one pass through our streets and look at the mass of decomposed or anic matter, emitting noxious gases and ef-uvia, spreading disease, and rendering some parts of our city not only unsightly, but posi-tively peculiential; see boxes and merchandise lumbering our streets; look at our police, sel-dom seen, except, perhaps, by the official in they are, but in rags and tatters! And will any one say, who has visited other cities—Chi-cago, Cincinnati, Milwaukee—that Louisville is not the filthiest of them all? I am glad to say that a movement on the part of our citizens is contemplated to give us these needed reforms, and this is written to give the gentlemen an op-portunity to show their hands. The efforts of sundry parties to advance the claims of their friends through the press is well enough, but gentlemen caudidates, let us know what you propose to do. We have seen what can be done masterly inactivity; suppose we see what a tle exertion might accomplish. On behalf of MANY CITIZENS.

A UNIFORM POLICE.

The ordinance to uniform the police of the city passed the Common Conneil by a vote of six-cen to three, but the influence of the policemen, all clique. Police-court lawyers, and habitues of jail clique. Police-court lawyers, and habitues of that locality caused its rejection in the Board of Aldermen by a vote of seven to one. Now, Messrs. Editors, the great mass of our better citizens and tax-payers demand this reform and other important measures that may be defeated by the same influences, unless the voters of the city, at the April election, show, by unmistakable signs, that their wishes shall be respected by the members of the General Council. To put an imhediate check upon this outside pressure in regard to our municipal legislation, would it not be well for the members of the Common Council to refuse to vote for any person as watchman who has spoken disrespectfully of heir action in this matter, and also invite applications for the position of watchmen from gentlemen who, when elected, will not be ashamed of their occupation, and who will conform to any requirement for the trol and efficiency of the Department?

REEELS FOUND IN A HAY MOW .- On Friday norning of last week, a gentleman residing a couple of miles from Fairmount, West Virginia, while engaged in pitching hay from a mow to feed his sheep, suddenly stirred up a pair of graybacks, who had crawled into the mow and oncealed themselves beneath the hay. They resented their revolvers, and ordered the disturber of their slumbers to give no alarm until they had time to get away. After extorting a promise to this effect, they permitted the farmer o go to his house-some half mile off-while they decamped. In a short time a squad of soldiers was on the spot and pursued them as far as it was possible to track them in the light snow which by this time only covered the ground in some places. They both acknowledged being regular rebel soldiers. One gave his name as Sims, and said he was a stranger in that part of the county. The other was recognized by the farmer as a fellow named Martin.

REBELS SHOT .- One night last week Corporal Barthelow, with a squad of soldiers, went to the house of Robert Davis, who lives near Koon's run, West Virginia, in search of some rebels known to be in that neighborhood. As the boys approached the house, two rebel soldiers ran out with a view to escape. One of them jumped from a very high porch and was shot before he touched the ground. The ball entered the knee, shattering it so badly that amputation will be necessary. His name is athan Mason. He was raised by William K. Russell, who was killed some time ago. The other rebel was shot through the body; but notwithstanding, he succeeded in making his escare for the time. He was found the next day at a neighboring house. The bullet entered his side and passed entirely through his body. It is said he cannot recover. He is said to have formerly resided about Beverly. Hie name is Abraham Louk.

NARROW ESCAPE .- On Saturday morning last, an ambulance, containing a lady and three gentlemen, attempted to cross the creek on the bridge near Lookout Mountain, though the bridge was under water, the driver expecting to drive on it. He missed the road and drove into the creek. The wagon commenced to sink in the mud almost immediately. The occupants of the ambulance cut a hole in the top of it and clambered to the top. Two of the party could swim, but the third man and lady were compelled to remain in their uncomfortable position until rescued by two soldiers, who got a log and swam to the ambulance with it, when the lady got on it, and was brought ashore, and afterward the man was relieved in the same manner Both of the horses were drowned.

Such apprehensions alienate the adhesion of the friends of the empire and prevent the people from active co-operation in the work of pacification. Having taken all these things into consideration, we believe it necessary to maintain a French army of 45,000 men in Mexico. This would be economy of both time and

AN KENPHANT IN LOVE —A number of years ago two menageries were laid up for the winter in a storehouse on the bank of the canal at Pittsburg. Here Hannibal was for the first time thrown into the society of Queen Anne. They were fastened side by side, and an immediate attachment sprung up between them. It was a case of love at first sight, for the moment Queen Anne was brought into Hannibal's presence she ran her trunk into his mouth, the elephant style of kissing All winter they were continually caressing each other, and their demonstrations of mutual affection were really extraordinary. In the spring Queen Anne was taken away to start upon her annual tour. The rage of Hannibal at this separation was terrific; for eleven days he refused to touch a morsel of for eleven days he refused to touch a morsel of food, the only nourishment that he received during that time being whiskey and water. during that time being whiskey and water.

By dintrof a continuous swaying or surging against his fastening he succeeded in breaking loose on the twelfth day, when he took entire possession of the establishment. The animals in the cages were terribly frightened, dashing against their bars and filling the air with their howls and shrieks. Hannibal ranged around the building, reared on hind feet and endeavored to tear down the the rafters in the roof with his trunk, but molested none of the animals. In the meantime a large force of new were were inserted in his ears and shoulders, and after great difficulty he was "hobbled" and east, when the customary discipline was applied with the usual satisfactory results. Queen Anne, who was of a more gentle disposition, bore the separation with exemplary resignation.

We said that the Democrat was for a party organization in Kentucky based exclusively on the old prejudices in favor of slavery, and the Democrat replies that we are striving to get up a party organization based exclusively on the abolition of slavery in the State. It is true, that, in view of the altered condition of things brought about by the operation of the war in a hundred ways and by the measures of the Federal Government, we have expressed our conviction that the truest policy of our State is to accept the amendment proposed at Washington to the Federal Constitution, and that we hope for the election of delegates to the next Legislature who will adopt it. We have said, too, that our next elections will evidently turn mainly if not entirely upon the mestion of the adoption of the amendment. but we have not said that we are in favor of their turning entirely upon that question. We think that there are various other matters that should not be forgotten. While the editor of the Democrat, as we said, is for an organization based exclusively on the old prejudices in favor of slavery, we are for the election of men, who, among other measures of policy, will vote for the acceptance of the amendment to do away with the nominal slavery in Kentucky. He is for getting up a party to rest wholly upon old prejudices in favor of what has ceased to exist except in name, or what, if it exists at all, is worse than nothing, while we are for supporting a policy, which, without any agency of ours, time and change and circumstance render expedient. He is for adapting political action wholly to a condition of things that has passed away and can never return, while we are for taking into consideration what the present condition of the State and nation imperatively requires. We have no dread of the term abolitionist when applied to us for being in favor of the recognition, for good and pressing reasons, of the nonexistence of what is already abolished or worse than abolished.

The Democrat says that we opposed him when he exhorted the people of Kentucky to let slavery alone in the Territories. Yes, we were not, like him, in favor of permitting a handful of people, however small, who might succeed in first scrambling into a Territory, to fix the status of slavery in such Territory for all time or for an indefinite time. We were right then just as we are right now. The condition of things was vastly different then from what it is now. Our neighbor was then, when peace reigned, and when slavery was unstricken, undemolished by war, in favor of permitting any little band of abolition adventurers from an abolition State into a territory to rule slavery out of it in its territorial condition, while we, at this time when war has wrought the mightiest changes upon the continent and rendered slavery an anomaly or a curse or a nullity in Kentucky, are simply for recognizing that great fact-simply for accepting a fact, which is and will be a fact whether we accept it or not. We may well accept destiny, in whatever shape it comes, accommodating ourselves to it as best we The editor of the Democrat wants to know why, if slavery is dead in Kentucky, we don't let it alone. One reason is, that, if slavery is dead in Kentucky, we are for cutting the State loose from a dead body. To have a rotten carcass tied to a State isn't exactly healthy. It cannot be disputed that no person is now practically a slave in Kentucky that prefers being free. All go off that choose to go, and, on account of their intimate relations with their masters' families, are able to take off whatever they choose to steal. Our neighbor says: "If Kentucky's Constitution and laws do not protect slavery, what other property do they protect? Let us abolish money and secure than servants." But we think that they are a good deal more secure. To be sure the rebels take money and property at discretion, where they can go, but the slaves are not only taken at discretion by the rebels where the rebels can go, but have legs to run away with when they like, where the rebels can't go, besides running away with a great many other things, and besides being able, and in most cases willing, to render themselves a pest while they stay. Let the slaves be recognized as free. and then we can get white labor, but now we have neither white nor black. There never has been a time, since the erection of Kentucky into a State, when there was a tenth part as much difficulty in obtaining labor of any sort as there is now. Indeed the difficulty is in most cases an impossibility. And matters are getting worse and worse, for the slaves so-called that remain among us become daily more idle, profligate, and insolent. The editor of the Democrat says that we ar not only for getting rid of slavery in this State but for forcing an amendment to the Constitu tion abolishing it in States against the will of their people. We are merely for Kentucky's adopting, so far as her own vote is concerned, the proposed amendment to the Constitution in order to promote her own interests and prosperity and welfare and what we hope she deems the welfare of the country. Slavery now exists nowhere even nominally out of Kentucky, except in the States in rebellion, and we do not think that Kentucky is under any obligation to abstain from any action that she deems necessary to herself and the country out of any romantic regard for what may or may not be the opinions of States that are struggling not only to conquer her but to subvert the republic. We do not selieve that she will forego any high and deep onvictions of her own to meet the views of States which wantonly and wickedly brough desolation upon slavery within their own bor ders by getting up an awful rebellion, the consequences of which they must, if they were not stricken by judicial blindness, have foreseen We have no idea that she will be deterred and swayed from any stern purpose of her own heart and mind into craven submission to the will of States which are turning their slaves into their armies to fight us, and which admit, that, by this policy and others that have been adopted and are to be adopted, slavery is virtually as dead as aught that lived before Noah's ark floated upon the deluge. Our readers have seen what the Hon.

Mr. Foote, late of the rebel Senate, said in a letter of last January to Secretary Seward and the anxious desire of the people to com back to the Union if assured of a comprehensive amnesty. Now when this fire-and-tow-eater, who among the rebels, has long been among the fiercest of the fierce, and whose pluck is unquestionably one of the most ponderous plucks in the Confederacy, thus yields the Confederate cause, how long before we may look for a surrender from those, whose plucks, compared with his. are as a hen's to an ostrich's?

The Confederate papers have repeatedly assured their readers that Sherman was whipped but he wasn't. They now tell the world what is to happen to him hereafter. But if their assertions as to the past are worth nothing, what credit is to be given to what they say as to the The Richmond Dispatch predicts that the rebel Generals will very soon gobble up Sherman and his army. Some of the rebel Generals may be as great gobblers as ever gobbled with spread tails in barnyards, but they can't gobble the great rebel-queller. A striking fact, though not a remarkable one, is this-the deserters from the Confederate forces come into the Federal lines, but the de-

The presence of so many prominent rebels, including our quondam fellow-citizen, Calhoun Benham, who has been a high cockatory mayong the fire exters in the capital of lorum among the fire eaters, in the capital of the New Empire, has excited remark and sus-picion for some time; but the dead secret is at last a secret no longer, and we have reliable evence of the designs of these galiant caval-leros. How far Jeff Davis himself may be inleros. How far Jeff Davis himself may be inwolved in these immigration schemes is only a matter of conjecture. No doubt he has taken a large lot of stock, and is eager for the enterprise. Before Soule left the South he was in close council with Davis, and Benham is not only a confidante of Jeff and Gwin, but is a Chief Quartermaster in the Confederate army. What he can be doing, unless he is officially accredited, so far from his legitimate sphere of duty, is provocative of inquiry. A brother of General Beauregard is also in the City of Mexico, and he too is in full feather with the administration of Jeff. All told, the thing looks like a wellmeditated design, and of the most authentic description.—Cincinnati Times. A part of this we personally know to be incorrect. Col. Calhoun Benham never has been and is net Chief Quartermaster or any other sort of Quartermaster in the Confederate army, and he has not gone to Mexico or anywhere else with any designs having relation to the Southern Confederacy.

President Davis deemed the adoption of ertain measures so vital to the Confederacy that he sent an especial message to the Confederate Congress, urging that body to remain in session a little while after the period agreed on for its adjournment in order to adopt them. Davis in his message (which we published two or three days ago) severely rebuked the Congress, and the latter, although it remained short time according to his request, refused to adopt even one of his measures, and adjourned after publishing an address to the people, in which it roundly denounced him. This is a sad condition of things for the Confederacy. Its President proclaims, that, unless relieved by the measures he suggests, it must speedily perish, and its Congress rejects the measures with hard and bitter words!

The members of Congress in their address tried to make a show of confidence, but their very hurried and precipitate retreat from Richmond looked amazingly like a "skedaddle."

We understand that the great Blue Mountain tunnel on the railroad between Charlottesville and Atlanta has been destroyed. So the rebels, instead of passing under the Mountains, will have to go over them. However, they will still be very able to do enough in the way of going under. Governor Wise failed as a General and is ow a candidate for Congress. But even the rebel Congress, we presume, aspires to be some thing better than a receptacle of broken down When the rebels see the Federal Union

The rebels have done a great deal of evacnating, and we guess they had better evacuate next the cause of the rebellion.

We apprehend that the effects of the war will soon be about the only effects the Southern Confederacy will have. We fear that a good many people are very andy at their toddy.

DRAFT.

Well to-day, Sick to-morrow. OPINION.

A TTORNEY GENERAUS OFFICE, MARCH 15, 1845. Hon, Edwin M. Stanton, Socretary of War: Sir. I pon the 14th section of the act entitled "An Act to amena the several Acts heretofore passed to provide for the corolling and calling out of the national forces," which provides as follows: Such is the experience of thousands. Few enjoy coninuous health. To what does the occasional invalid atto amena the several Acts heretofore passed to provide for the corrolling and calling out of the national forces," which provides as follows:

'That hereafter all persons mustered into the military or laval service, whether as volunteers, substitutes, representatives, or otherwise, shall be credited to the State, and to the ward, towaship, precinct, or other encolment sub-district, where such persons belong by actual residence (it such persons have an actual rericence within the United States), and where such parsons were or shall be enrolled (if liable to encolment); and it is hereby made the duty of the Prayout Marshal General to make such rules and give such instruction to the several Provost Marshals, Boards of Eurolment, and Mustering Officers, as shall be necessary for the faithful enforcement of the provisions of this section, to whe end that fair and just credit shall be given to every section of the country. Provided, That is any call for troops hereafter, no county, town township, ward, precinct or election district, shall have credit except for nen actually furnished on sai call, or the preceding cal by said county, town, township, ward, precinct or election district, mustered into the military or naval service on the quota thereof..."

You, in your letter of the 12th of March, ask my epinion on the following points:

First. As to the meaning of the words "actual residence" as employed in the above section, and the proper mode, according to law, of determining the actual residence from offering as recruits.

Second, Where the "actual residence" of the recruit is in one amb-district, and he is enrolled in a different sub-district, where shall the credit be given?

Third, In cases where the rec uit has no legal domicile or actual residence in any enrolment sub district, shall be be credited to the sub district or where he is annolled, or shall he be allowed to select his locality?

I. The first of the above questions may be divided into two gents: First as to the westions. tribute his uncertain condition? Not to himself, of The first of the above questions may be divided into two parts: First as to the meaning of the words "accual residence," and, secondly, as to the proper node of ascertaining the "accual residence," It is very difficult to give a seat by which the question of actual residence may be determined in each particular case. A few general rules may be siven, however, by which a vast majo sty of the cases can be residing determined.

1. Every person must be presumed to have an actual residence some where. almost impervious to slimate influences. It is to this preventive principle that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS OW their great popularity in the West Indies, British America, and Australia. m21 d13&w2 residence some where.

2. A man can have but one actual residence at one and the sar e time.

3. A residence onee acquired remains until another is acquired. ing Dr. LA CROIX, No. 31 Maiden Lane, Alba and the san'e time.

3. A residence once acquired remains until another is acquired.

4. The place of a man's origin is that of his actual residence until he acquires another.

5. Minors have their actual residence with their parents, guardiags or, if apprentices, with their masters, 6. Adults reside at the places of their dwelling. A man's dwelling is in contradistinction to his place of business, trade, or occupation. He dwells at steplace the habitually sleeps or passes his nights.

7. In every country there is more or less population floating like drift. They never expect to remain long at any place, and so thence whenever and wherever the hope of employment may invite, or fancy dictate. Such persons have their actual residence in the community in which they may dwell at the time of the enrolment.

As to the mode of ascertsining the actual residence of a recruit the statute gives authority to the Provost Marshal General to make such rules and give such instructions as will enable the Boards of Enrolment and Mustering Officers to ascertain the facts, and assign the credit according to the truth of the case. In most cases, the affidavit of the enrolled man would determine the matter. But as it is a question in which the sub districts have an interest as well as the recruits, and as recruit may, for bounties or bribes, declare contrary to the fact, their places of residence, the rules to be prescribed should admit of counter proof.

II. My opinion is, that where the actual residence is none sub-district, and the man is enrolled in a different sub-district, and the man is enrolled in a different sub-district, and the rule of the section is to fix a rule by which places are to receive credits for enrolled men, It gives a rule of credits to the State, and to the whard, township prece are to receive credits for enrolled men, It gives a rule of credits to the state, and to the whole object and purpose of this section is to fix a rule by which places are to receive credits for enrolled men, only. It is silent as to Wholesale and Retail Dealers Men's and Boys'

A FEW REASONS WHY THE IS THE BEST.

It is made on the best principle, while the foreign watch is generally made on no principle at all. The foreign watch is mostly made by women and boys, By HAND. While their labor is cheap, their work is dear at any price. Such watches are made without plan, and sold without suarantee. They are irregular in construction, and quite as irregular in movement. They are designed only to sell, and the buyer is the party most thoroughly sold. Those who have kept "ancres. few years will appreciate the truth of our statement,

THE PLAN OF THE AMERICAN WATCH. Instead of being made of several hundred little piece crewed together, the bedy of the American Watch is ormed of SOLID PLATES. No jar interferes with the armony of its working, and no sudden shock can throw its machinery out of gear. In riding or any business pursuit, it is all held together as firmly as a single piece of metal. It is just what all machinery should be-1st. ACCURATE. 2d. SIMPLE. 3d. SIRONG. 4th. ECONOMICAL.

FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 8 A. M.

THE WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' HOME.—It will be remembered that the beautiful and successful series of tableaux recently given at the Masonic Temple was for the purpose of establishing in our city a home for widows and orphans. We are glad to learn that an act of incorporation has since been obtained from the Legislature under which the Home has been properly organized. The Board of Trustees consists of Rev. J. H. Heywood and Messrs, M. M. Green, George Davis, Abner Coopar, A. G. Munn, A. P. Cochran, J. Meeker, and J. L. Danforth: and the officers of the Board are: President. J. H. Heywood; Vice-President, M. M. Green; and Secretary and Treasurer, J. L. Danforth. We understand these gentlemen desire to purchase a lot of ground of two or three acres, santly situated in the suburbs of the city, and persons having such to sell are requested to Bend written proposals to the Secretary, stating the size and location of lot and terms of sale.

In speaking of our excellent and distinguished fellow-citizen, Colonel A. M. Stout, a candidate for the City Attorneyship, we had no intention to institute or intimate any comparison or to disparage or impair the claims of any other gentleman who was or might become a rival candidate. We simply desired to do justice to an excellent and able man, who promptly raised a noble regiment at the beginning of the war, and who, by serving more than three years in the field, where he bled for his bleeding country, had of course lost his fine legal practace in this city and must be unknown personally to multitudes of our voters. thought that his patriotism should not be permitted to operate as a hindrance to him. LOUISVILLE THEATRE -The character of Sir Giles Overreach is one of the most difficult on the stage, yet Mr. Fairclough acquitted himself with credit last night. He is a rising actor, and the public should encourage his efforts and applaud his genius. He comes among us unheralded and a stranger, yet this is no reason why we should treat him with coldness, and refuse to acknowledge his merits. He presents his claims for a benefit to-night, appearing as Hamlet, in Shakespeare's grand old play. Miss Ada Gray will personate the character of Ophelia. At the conclusion of the tragedy, Mille Eloise

the charming danseuse, will execute La Vivantrust that Mr. Fairclough's benefit will prove a substantial one. SETH B. Howes's CIRCUS -The opening night of this great Circus has been changed to Saturday instead of Friday, as advertised. D. lays that were unavoidable have necessitated this change. The street parade will take place on Monday morning, when Crockett, the Lion King, will take one of his noble pets, unfastened, into the seat beside him. The Arabs will also form part of this procession. The curiosity of the public has been much excited by the announcement of the perilous feats of these Bedonins, and the opening night will, we presume, be the occasion of a crowded pavilion.

PRISONERS OF WAR TRANSFERRED .- Yester day 118 prisoners of war, embracing 3 Surgeons, 1 Lieut -Colonel, 1 Major, 3 Captains, 6 Lieutenants, 102 non-commissioned officers and privates, and 2 citizens, were transferred from the Military Prison in this city to Camp Chas Among the number were 3 officers and 4 seamen of the defunct "Confederate States Navy. captured near Kingston, East Tennessee, whilst on an expedition down the Tennessee river to destroy boats and bridges on that stream. Wood's THEATRE .- Frank Drew, the ec ast night kept a large audience in the best of humor. As a funny man, Drew is hard to beat To-night he takes a benefit, when his grand and unapproachable burlesque of Mazeppa wil be produced. Frank will accomplish a num ber of thrilling feats on a hobby horse. Lookout for something rich, rare, and racy. We notice that the new piece Streets of New York will be produced sometime during next week.

Business at the Provost Marshal's office was rather dull yesterday. Only a few cases were presented. John Kelly, of Franklin county, Tenn., was presented to the Provost Marshal. supposed to be a bushwhacker. He was sent north of the Ohio river. Q C. Williams, of Nashville, Tenn , and a Government employe was charged with defrauding the Government He was banished north of the Ohio river.

BENEFIT -Alice Hogan, the wonderful child actress of the Louisville Theatre, will take a benefit on Saturday afternoon. Little Alice is a gifted child, and there is an indescribable charm about her acting. On the stage she always acquits herself with great credit; in fact, she exhibits a grace and power remarkable in one so young. Everybody should be present at her benefit on Saturday afternoon.

SUDDEN DEATH .- A deck passenger on the steamer General Buell left his bunk yesterday morning and seated himself near the stove. One of the deck-hands gave him a cup of coffee which he drank. A few minutes afterwards he was found dead in the same sitting posture. His name was Wm. H. Franks, and he had recently been released from one of the rebel prisons and was on his way home in Indians SENT ACROSS .- Yesterday five citizens from Dixie were released from the Military Prison at this place, upon taking the amnesty oath and giving parole to remain north of the Ohio river til 'this cruel war is over."

the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

The death of our dear son, Centrenden Prentice Larson, who died at the St. Cloud Hotel, in this city, a the 9th instant, has already been announced in your humas. He died, after an illness of about thirty-four ours, of congestion of the brain. His age was three cars, eleven months, and twenty-three days. He was at first child—a gift of God—and enterta-ning, as we id, a high appreciation of statesmansuip and patriotism, enamed humas above, after the illustrious—now laternted—John J. Crittenden, of Kentucky, and George. Prentice, of the Louisville Journal ext, and George of the Louisville Journal control torget him here; slibough it has been said, by a reat and kood man: "Weep not for the Infant who has rund so short a path to Readon; for the child whom, rupt in its enow-white mantle of innocence, you have lepart d. No, that is not it; we weep only as those who weep for sorrow—that one so young, pure, innocent, and lovely should be taken from us—his presence to be enjoyed by us no more in this world.

So early in the morning of his life, before the rays of a noonday's sun had reflected into his young and tender heart, as a bud just disc osing its loveliness, was plucked from its purent stem and transplanted in a better land to hick mand flourish in Meaven.

A DRAFT INSURANCE ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS PREMIUM!

Notice to all Men Hable to DEAFT in Louisville and Jefferson County. Security Against the DRAFT!

In Louisville and Jefferson county there are elations are such that serving the Covernment fled men, or procuring substitutes at the resent high rates, are alike attended with pecur bardships. We have, after deliberate calculation and careful examination, concluded to insure men again t the draft ordered for the 15th of Feb completed our arrangements for the purpose of furnishing and mustering mto the service an acceptable substitute in every case where one of the insured is drafted.

Experience has shown that persons can be insured against the perils of fire and disease upon a fixed calculation of risks. Are not biblic and individual interests subserved by in-ring against the contingency of being draft-? It is estimated that of the number liable to raft a certain proportion will be drafted.

Accepting this ratio as a basis, we feel justiced in undertaking to insure against the inoming draft, and shall muster in acceptable cruits in proportion to the ratio of quota to e number on enrolment list. Each man insured will be given, on payment premium of insurance, a certificate which shall of premum of insurance, a certificate which shall entitle him to exemption, and, in the event of his being drafted, we will furnish the substitute in his name and stead, and thereby procure from the Board of Euroiment his exemption papers, which are to be given him upon his returning said certificate of premium to us.

To those whose business relations make it a great sacrificate was destined man, and those rest sacrifice to go as drafted men, and those tho, if drafted, would be unable to procure sub-litutes, the benefits to be derived from such inom the wheel. From these harassing care surance are plain and tangible.

You are insured against the anxiety and personal inconvenience incident to one who knows not but what his name may be drawn anticipation you are relieved, as we will your place with an acceptable substitute, ady mustered in, if you are drafted. You re thus spared the pecuniary sacrifice which ou must make, when, after being notified hat you are conscripted, you attempt to pay an exorbitant price for a substitute, when men take advantage of your individual neces-ity. You are then left to the prosecution of our business and the enjoyment of a home's orivilege; and if poor, can you not better pay a moderate sum now than an exorbitant price for a substitute after the draft?

Belleving that the public have confidence in our shifty to perform what we processe and of our ability to perform what we propose, and o which we will furnish the most satisfactory evidence, we shall enter upon our undertaking This proposition cannot fail to meet the wishe of hundreds in Louisville and Jefferson county careful not to undertake more than we can fely, and, without fail, thoroughly accomplish We will insure against the draft ordered for the 15th of February, 1865, and all supple mental drafts to fill the quota under that call One Hundred Pollars!

This sum strikes us as so moderate as to is nce hundreds to step promptly forward and vail themselves of the opportunity offered adeed, all who have not a representative in the ervice should secure this chance, unless the efer going themselves, if drafted.
We are now ready to meet the public, and, there are many hundreds still needed to fill e quota for the city and county, we may not solicit their prompt attention, but invit

I AM MANUFACTURING AND BEERP CONSTANT-ly on hand Portable and Stationary Steam Hingines, Boring Tools, and other machinery used in bering for Oil and Salt. THE California Petroleum Company, OF NEW YORK. A. C. RICHARDS, (late J. W. Paige & Co.). President JNO. E. WILLIAMS, Pres't Metropolitan Bank, Treas EDGAR E. HOLLEY, Secretary.

LOCATED ON THE RANCH OF OJAI, NEAR Buenaventura, in Santa Barbara County, California, In the summer of 1864, Prof. Silliman examined this locality, and, in a letter, dated at Buenaventura, Santa Barbara county, July 2, 1864, he thus communicates the results of his observations upon the property now owned by the California Petroleum Company, the purchase of which he strongly recommended to his friends in New York: then he strongly recommended to his friends in New York:

"The preperty covers an area of 18,000 (eighteen thouand) ares in one body on which are at present at least westy natural "o'l wells, some of them of the largest
ze. Artesian wells will be fruitful along a double line of thirteen miles, say for at least twenty-five miles in inear extent. The Ranch is an old Spanish grant of our leagues of land, lately confirmed, and of perfect itle. It has, as I said, about eighteen thousand acres in t of the finest land, watered by four rivers, and mossring, in a right line, in all, near thirteen miles. As a such, it is a selendid estate; but it's value is its almost abulous wealth in the best of oil."

In a letter written to the company since his return,

In a letter written to the company since his return, Feb 10 1855, he says:
"I am happy to be able to confirm, at this date, what have raid in my published report respecting the extradinary character and high value of the estate on which our con pany is established." THE CAPITAL STOCK
